

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 1

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 2

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 3

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 4

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 5

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 6

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 7

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 8

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 9

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 10

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 11

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 12

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 13

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 14

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 15

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.

THE HOUSE BY THE WATER - 16

An original ImagineReader test story.

Mara opened the green door of the old house.
Beyond it stood a quiet room with tall windows.
Morning light fell across the worn wooden floor.
A blue coat hung beside the doorway.
Outside, reeds moved slowly beside the water.

She set her book on the table and listened.
Somewhere along the shore, a bell rang twice.
The room held the warmth of the morning sun.